

Website Launched!

Dr. John M. Williams, D. D. S., A.B.F.O. launches first website.

"I want this website to be as informative as possible to help people understand the need for quality dental care" . . . Dr. Williams

As the internet is becoming more and more visible in the inner city, people are now able to get information that would not have been attained by other means. We wanted to provide a place or should we say a website that will help fill that gap.

Browse thru and tell us what subjects of interest you would like more information about.
